OUR PHILOSOPHY

Alexander Sturrock is a fifth generation family business based in Angus. We specialise in the design, manufacture and installation of superb quality timber components including: windows, doors, stairs, handrails, conservatories and panelled rooms. In fact we can produce almost anything in timber.

As a company we are extremely proud of our Scottish heritage and of our philosophy of quality and craftsmanship. All our products are manufactured in Scotland to our clients' individual specification.

We have a vast depth of experience ranging from intricate domestic projects through to large scale commercial installations. We have, in particular, a wealth of expertise in bespoke sash and case windows and can arguably claim to be the longest established specialist manufacturer in sash and case windows in Scotland. We can manufacture them in any quantity and in all manners of radius and size; replicating intricate historical detail.

Skilled craftsmen working in harmony with Cutting-edge production technology

Our differentiated approach comes from the combination of highly skilled craftsmen working with the very best manufacturing technology to create truly exceptional timber components. We pride ourselves on our continual investment in the best manufacturing equipment on the market, so much so the plant and equipment within our business is rarely found in a company of our size.

The Finest Materials

The very best timbers are used in the construction of our components. Naturally, environmental concerns are of primary importance and woods from certifiable sustainable sources are used where possible.

INDIVIDUALLY CRAFTED FOR YOU WITH A FINISH LIKE NO OTHER

At Alexander Sturrock we don't do standard. Everything we produce is bespoke and individually crafted to our client's exact requirements - ensuring that you, the client, receive the very best solution.

Our uniqueness rests in our meticulous attention to detail, ensuring that the quality of finish on our timber components is second to none.

CASE STUDY

Complete Joinery Fit Out - Baronial Country House

Our Client's Property

Our client's property is a beautiful Scots-baronial country house in Aberdeenshire.

The Brief

Our clients purchased the property and embarked on a major refurbishment and extension programme of works.

Alexander Sturrock were appointed to manufacture and install the joinery package for the project. This included entrance doors, French doors, internal doors, stairs and finishings.

The Solution

This significant project required meticulous planning and project management, ensuring that communication with the wider build team was paramount.

The architectural timber components consisted of traditionally-styled hardwood sash and case windows throughout (with double-glazed units). The French doors were styled similarly with a spray-painted microporous white paint inside and out.

For the internal joinery our clients selected Oak, finished with a lacquer to show the beauty and elegance of this timeless timber.

Internal doors were made to a traditional multi-panel raised and fielded style, produced in solid oak with a lacquer finish.

The magnificent stair in the main house was constructed over three stories in solid oak with bespoke traditional cast iron balustrading.

The Result

Our clients were delighted with the end result. Their vision of creating a fabulous family home in the country was realised.

Working with you

We welcome and encourage clients to visit our manufacturing facilities in Angus prior to commissioning work. We work with our clients and provide guidance and support on matters such as design, technical drawing and installation so that each stage in the project is meticulously planned and executed. The company becomes an integral part of the client's team so that projects are delivered on time, on budget and to a standard which will exceed client expectations.
